Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 27 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Thundery rain in south, but fine and warm further north .

This Evening and Tonight:
Areas of heavy rain, possibly thundery, will affect some southern parts of both England and Wales, although some areas missing the worst of this. Plenty of low cloud but staying mild. Further north mostly dry with variable cloud.

Monday:
Rain across Wales and central England easing but mostly grey and cool. Northern UK fine and warm inland. Turning brighter and warmer in southern England but scattered thundery downpours later.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Rain or showers, heavy with a risk of thunder, in the south on Tuesday. Mainly fine and warm elsewhere, these conditions becoming more widespread through the rest of the period.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.